Leaders Will Get Behind Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's call for civil rights legislation swiftly received the backing of congressional leaders of both parties but they expect its progress to be slow and turbulent.

"I will devote my very best efforts" to seeking an effective program, said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois after Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night.

Dirksen said he recognized "that Congress has a responsibility in this field and there should be some action in this session."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, made it clear he does not expect any final action until late summer on any of the civil rights proposals the President promised to send to Congress next week.

Humphrey had told a news conference Tuesday that administration leaders will press for action on other segments of his program — some form of aid to education.

No Additional Mercury Orbits Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space Chief James E. Webb announced today that there will be no additional project Mercury orbital flights.

Instead, Webb said, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will move ahead with the program for the two-man Gemini spacecraft, which will practice the space-docking maneuvers that will be required later for Apollo flights to the moon.

Webb told the Senate Space Committee that the decision against another Mercury flight was reached this morning at a conference with Associate Director Robert Seamans Jr. and Deputy Administrator Hugh Dryden.

Project Mercury directors and the seven original Mercury astronauts had urged that one more Mercury flight be attempted, this one of about 100 hours.

Hope, State Featured in Mobile Guide

Hope and its tourist attractions are featured in the new 1963 edition of the Mobil Travel Guide.

The Guide points out that while Hope is "known as the Watermelon Capital of the state, there is also diversified farming and industry."

An innovation in this year's guide is the inclusion of a number of "guest certificates" which entitle the bearer to purchase admission tickets to various sightseeing attractions for himself and members of his party at reduced prices.

The Southwest and South Central Area edition of the Guide, which includes Hope, devotes 31 pages to the Wonder State.

In addition to descriptions of Hope and 42 other Arkansas cities and towns, it includes rated listings for 126 motels and motor hotels, 55 restaurants, six cafeterias, 11 resorts and 18 hotels and inns.

The 1963 Mobil Travel Guide is published in six volumes which describe over 7,500 things to see and do. The Guides give details on hunting and fishing as well as license fees, information on camping grounds and state and national parks.

The books list and rate more than 15,000 hotels, motels, restaurants and cafeterias, each of which was visited by a trained representative whose written reports were reviewed by a national committee of consultants before ratings were assigned.

The exact location, telephone number and prices are given for every listing and a description of almost every facility available including television and radio, laundry facilities, eating facilities, hours, parking, type of cooking, baby-sitting service and provision for pets.

All establishments are rated following methods adapted from the 60-year-old Guide Michelin of France; one star next to an establishment's name means "good, satisfactory in every way," two stars, "very good," three stars, "excellent," four stars, "outstanding — worth a special effort to reach," five stars, "one of the best in the country." Some establishments also receive a check mark denoting an "unusually good value, relatively inexpensive."

The only national travel guide which lists and rates hotels, motels and restaurants on the basis of inspections, the Mobil Guide accords no advertising or payment for listings. Each volume sells for $1.50. The Guides are available at most book stores and Mobil service stations.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty three U.S. military aircraft were damaged at Saigon airport Tuesday night in a sudden storm.

A military spokesman said some of the aircraft were badly damaged and there had been damage to buildings. The damaged aircraft included 12 U.S. Army H21 troop carrier helicopters.

Rainmaker Is Trying at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Rainmaker Homer Berry, confident that his cloud-seeding efforts will produce rain in Nashville before midnight tonight, said he would return to his home in North Little Rock today.

"If you don't get an inch of rain today, I'll be back tomorrow," Berry told the Howard County peach growers who hired him for $750 to produce rain by midnight Saturday.

Berry predicted there would be at least four showers in the Nashville area by the weekend.

He spent Tuesday southwest of Nashville, driving his pickup truck with the rainmaking rig mounted on its bed. Berry said he sends particles of silver iodide into the clouds on a column of gas produced in a brick-lined barrel. He collected $1,500 for rainmaking jobs in Arkansas last summer.

The generator on Berry's truck broke down Tuesday night and the truck had to be towed into Nashville. It was repaired and Berry went back onto county roads to continue his seeding this morning. He said he would leave for North Little Rock this afternoon.

The peach growers said they have prospects for their best crop in years but dry weather is threatening the fruit. They said a good rain this week would be worth $1 million to the crop.

Kroger Takes Over Market Basket Chain

Las Angeles, Market Basket, a Los Angeles supermarket chain will become an affiliate of the Kroger Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio if a proposal announced today by Neel D. Ramsey, Market Basket President and Duncan Shaw, Vice President and Treasurer, is approved by shareholders of The Kroger Co. and accepted by the holders of 80 per cent of the common stock of Market Basket.

Market Basket operates 56 stores in four counties in the Los Angeles area. Kroger, third largest food retailer in the nation, operates 1,375 food stores in 23 Mid-western and Southern states.

Kroger shareholders will be asked to approve a new class of 4.3 per cent voting preferred stock, with a par value of $50 per share, to be issued in connection with the plan. Owners of Market Basket common shares will be offered one share of the new Kroger preferred stock for each two shares of Market Basket common stock.

Macmillan Pleads for Backing

By TOM REEDY

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan held an emergency Cabinet meeting today and reportedly persuaded his shaken ministers to back his handling of the Profumo vice scandal.

None of the ministers would speak publicly about the meeting and, in fact, none of them looked very happy about it.

But the usually well-informed British Press Association said it was evident that the meeting "was a harmonious one and that there may well be a unanimity of view."

These facts leaked out: —The Cabinet received the report of an inquiry into whether resigned War Minister John Profumo violated security in his relations with model Christine Keeler who was having an affair at the same time with Soviet navy captain, Eugene Ivanov.

—Decisions were reached on tactics to restore Conservative party confidence, at its lowest ebb since the Suez crisis which brought down Sir Anthony Eden, then prime minister.

—Strategy was planned for next Monday's parliamentary session when the Labor opposition is certain to attack the government on its handling of the entire scandal.

Official sources said a report by the lord chancellor, Lord Dilhorne, cleared Profumo of suspicion. Dilhorne's report is expected to bolster Macmillan's position in the debate Monday on the scandal.

Macmillan's days in office appear to be numbered. Few political observers believe he can hang on to his post much longer. Powerful elements of the Conservative party seem convinced he has outlived his usefulness as prime minister.

N. Arkansas Gets Some Heat Relief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Arkansas got some respite from sweltering heat Tuesday, but south Arkansas continued to steam and more hot weather was in prospect.

Thundershowers were active in north central sections today, but they were not expected to bring enough rain to help a threatening drought situation.

The mercury reached three figures for the third day in a row Tuesday, this time with a 101 degree reading at Warren.

But maximums Tuesday ranged down to a relatively mild 86 degrees at Harrison. Tuesday night's minimums ranged between 66 at Walnut Ridge and 78 at Texarkana.

Today's high was forecast in the 90-degree range with tonight's lows expected to be between 64 and 74.

The five-day forecast held little hope of rain. Maximum precipitation in the period was estimated at one quarter to one half inch while farmers need a downpour.

Kennedy Cites Threat to Public Safety

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has warned the nation that discrimination against Negroes has lighted "fires of frustration and discord" that threaten lives and the public safety.

The President outlined a broad legislative program he will propose to Congress next week. He said it will be based on the proposition "that race has no place in American life or law."

A great change is at hand, he said, and "our task, our obligation, is to make that revolution, that change, peaceful and constructive for all."

Kennedy appeared Tuesday evening on radio and television in a fireside civil rights lecture to Americans of both North and South only hours after Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace bowed to federal pressure and stepped aside to let two Negro students register at the previously all-white University of Alabama.

"I hope that every American, regardless of where he lives, will stop and examine his conscience about this and other related incidents," said Kennedy.

"When Americans are sent to Viet Nam or West Berlin, we do not ask for whites only," he said. "It ought to be possible, therefore, for American students of any color to attend any public institution they select without having to be backed up by troops."

"In short," Kennedy added, "every American ought to have the right to be treated as he would wish to be treated, as one would wish his children to be treated. But this is not the case."

Kennedy, declaring that America faces "a moral crisis as a country and as a people," said he will ask Congress to make a civil rights commitment "it has not fully made in this century."

The President said he will propose legislation that would:

1. Prohibit stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters from discriminating against Negroes.
2. Allow the federal government to take a more active part in court suits aimed at desegregation.

Club Gives Aged Chance to Have Fun

The Golden Age Club is another Recreation organization designed to give the Senior Citizens of the community an opportunity to get together for fun and fellowship.

The group holds regular meetings twice monthly at the Youth Center, with occasional extra meetings for special events.

The Club has potluck luncheons, fish fry's, holiday parties etc., plays games, has sewing and crafts projects and various other activities.

Wallace Succumbs to U.S. Troops; Negro Leader Fatally Shot

Jackson, Miss. NAACP Head Shot at Home

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Medgar Evers, one of the South's prominent Negro leaders, was mortally wounded in the driveway of his home early today.

Evers, 37, Mississippi field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died about 50 minutes later in University Medical Center.

Evers had been directing a massive civil disobedience campaign against racial discrimination in the Mississippi capital.

Police launched a widespread search for his assassin.

"This is most unfortunate," said Jackson Chief of Detectives W.B. Pierce who asked the FBI to assist in the investigation.

In New York, Roy T. Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said the death of Evers "demonstrates anew the blind and murderous hatred which obscures too many Mississippians."

"In their ignorance they believe that by killing a brave, dedicated and resourceful leader of the civil rights struggle they can kill the movement for human rights. They cannot."

Wilkins said the NAACP was

Integration Is Quiet at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Race barriers were lowered quietly at Texarkana College today and two Negroes enrolled in the publicly supported two-year school.

There was no incident.

Admission of Linda Ruth Tolbert, 18, and Albirda P. Briley, 40, marked the first desegregation of public school facilities in this city which straddles the Arkansas-Texas state line. Parochial schools have been integrated for several years.

The college's board of regents issued a statement today declaring that the girls were the first qualified Negroes to apply for admission since a federal court ordered the school in 1956 to accept qualified applicants regardless of race.

Miss Tolbert enrolled in the regular summer school and was in class today. Miss Briley, an employee at the Red River Arsenal, enrolled in a night class in government.

Both live in Texarkana, Tex. Two Negroes tried to enroll in Texarkana College in 1956, but a white crowd gathered and kept them from reaching registration headquarters.

Texarkana College is supported by the Texas state government and local governments.

Among those named to the honor roll at the University of Arkansas, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, were Mary F. Harrison and Martin Gilbert, both of Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ellis spent the past weekend in Little Rock where they attended University of Arkansas Nursing School exercises and saw their granddaughter, Patricia Louise Deaton, receive a B. S. degree from the organization.

The Texarkana Boots and Saddle Club will sponsor a World's Championship Match Roping Contest in cooperation with the Texarkana College on Sunday, June 16, at 2 p. m. at the four States Fair Rodeo Arena ... participating will be Tom Nesmith, reigning World's Champion All Around Cowboy, and Bob Altizer, former champion calf roping ... proceeds go to the Texarkana College club.

Flat Areas on Mars Reported

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists reported Tuesday that a 22-million mile radar probe of Mars showed sizable flat areas on the planet's surface.

The news agency Tass said the probe was made last February. It said the radio waves took over 11 minutes to travel to Mars and back.

Tass said the results of the experiment were compared with earlier radar soundings of the planets Venus and Mercury.

Greek Crisis Over Visit to Britain

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A government crisis gripped Greece today as a result of King Paul's insistence that he and Queen Frederika make a scheduled state visit to Britain next month.

Premier Constantine Karamanlis resigned Tuesday because the king rejected his advice to postpone or call off the trip. Karamanlis feared a repetition of the leftist demonstrations which plagued the queen during a private visit to London in April.

The king now must decide whether to name a new government or to dissolve Parliament and call a national election within 45 days.

A new government could only come from Karamanlis' National Radical Union party, which has a 60-seat majority in Parliament. The party's high command advocated new elections, with the king naming a caretaker Cabinet to supervise the voting.

The 57-year-old premier had headed the government since 1955, a record for Greece, and his party won national elections in 1956, 1958 and 1961. The king said he accepted Karamanlis' resignation with "great regret."

But King Paul said that refusing the invitation from Queen Elizabeth I after it had been accepted might be "a blow to the friendship and mutual confidence which exists within the NATO alliance."

In April Queen Frederika was jostled by demonstrators who claimed Greece still held political prisoners from the 1947-49 Communist civil war. On one occasion she and her daughter Princess Irene had to take refuge in a private home.

Wallace, who had earlier been told by the President to give up his defiance, replied: "I wish to make a statement."

"But for the unwarranted federalization of the National Guard, I would be your commander in chief. In fact, I am your commander in chief."

"I know this is a bitter pill for you."

For the youthful governor it obviously was bitter defeat.

Wallace said again that Alabama's citizenry should refrain from violence, he denounced the federal government's "trend to military dictatorship" and then almost angrily unhooked a microphone from around his neck, let it drop to the floor and left the doorway.

Applause, cheers and yells followed him as he rode away.

Segregation Cracked at Alabama U.

By RELMAN MORIN

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Segregation's wall around Alabama public schools cracked when two Negroes enrolled at a state university behind federalized National Guardsmen.

A stubborn Gov. George C. Wallace made his doorway stand against federal authority Tuesday.

He turned back federal officials and delayed registration of the two Negroes only briefly at the University of Alabama. Then he yielded to an Alabama-born general of the state's 17,000-man National Guard, federalized by presidential order.

The breaching of the racial wall in Alabama, which had been the only state without token integration in public schools, provided a dramatic prelude to a demand by President Kennedy for obliteration of color lines in the nation.

Kennedy said Tuesday night in a nationwide radio-television broadcast that he will seek unprecedented legislation next week to eradicate racial barriers in private businesses serving the public. This includes hotels, restaurants, theaters and retail stores.

"I shall ask the Congress to make a commitment it has not fully made in this century to the proposition that race has no place in American life or law," the President said.

The 43-year-old governor, grim and determined, stood off federal officials in the first meeting at the university. He read a proclamation of "denounce and forbid this illegal and unwarranted action by the central government."

The federal officials and the Negro students, Vivian Malone and James A. Hood, withdrew temporarily.

A short time later, Wallace was confronted by Brig. Gen. Henry V. Graham, 47, assistant commander of the 31st Infantry Division of the National Guard.

The tall, militarily erect Graham, gray-haired and sunburned, saluted. The governor, his chin thrust forward but his face now bleak, waited.

Graham said he had been commanded to ask Wallace to step aside.

Wallace, who had earlier been told by the President to give up his defiance, replied: "I wish to make a statement."

"But for the unwarranted federalization of the National Guard, I would be your commander in chief. In fact, I am your commander in chief."

"I know this is a bitter pill for you."

3. Afford greater protection for Negroes' right to vote.

Acknowledging the new laws are not enough, Kennedy said, however, that in too many parts of the country wrongs are inflicted on Negroes because they have no remedies at law—and "unless the Congress acts, their only remedy is the street."

In Congress, leaders of both parties promised to put their shoulders to the wheel.

"I recognize that Congress has a responsibility in this field," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, "and there should be some action in this session on effective civil rights legislation. To this end I will devote my best efforts."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted, "We'll have civil rights legislation at this session and it looks like we will be in session for the remainder of the year." House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said the President's speech "would have great weight with the country as well as Congress."

But from a southern Democrat came warnings of filibuster and violence.

"If the President tries to enforce his legislative proposals I think it will mean violence," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La.

"The threat I just heard tonight that the Negroes will lie in the streets if there is a filibuster—which there will be—will mean a lot of bloodshed. I'm sorry this is what is in store—more violence, bloodshed without question."

the long-delayed tax reduction bill, a youth employment measure and other legislation.

The civil rights program, Kennedy said in his address to the nation Tuesday night, will include measures to bar discrimination in stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters; allow the federal government to take a more active role in public school desegregation suits, and afford greater protection for Negroes' right to vote.

Forecasting a Southern filibuster in the Senate against civil rights measures, Humphrey said the administration will have to get along as best it can without additional legal authority in its attempts to ward off racial violence.

"This is going to be a warm summer," he commented.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said "The threat I just heard tonight that the Negroes will lie in the streets if there is a filibuster—which there will be—will mean a lot of bloodshed. I'm sorry this is what is in store—more violence, bloodshed without question."

British to Probe Late Scandal

LONDON (AP)—Britain's lord chancellor continued today to probe into whether the nation's security was breached as a result of the Profumo affair.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan ordered the inquiry into the shadowy background of the scandal that rocked his government after War Minister John Profumo quit in disgrace.

Macmillan's position as head of the government and of the Conservative party was also periled by charges that he was fooled too easily by Profumo's deceit. But aides said he had no thought of resigning.

Profumo quit last Wednesday, confessing he had had an improper relationship in 1961 with Christine Keeler, a 21-year-old party girl.

Although Profumo denied any security breach was involved, Christine at the same time was the mistress of Capt. Eugene Ivanov, then the assistant Soviet military attache in London. Macmillan assigned Lord Dilhorne, the lord chancellor, to study the security aspects of the affair.

The government announced that Dilhorne's inquiry had been in progress since before Profumo quit, raising the question why the government kept it a secret until Monday.

The almost unavoidable conclusion, said the Times of London, was that Macmillan believed no security issues were involved, even after he ordered the inquiry.

Because of his responsibility as head of British security, Macmillan faces a crisis of confidence in his leadership of the ruling Conservative party. Political observers regard his appearance in the House of Commons next Monday as the crisis point in his career.

Monk Burns to Death in Protest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Milling crowds gathered in front of Buddhist pagodas today for memorial services for a monk who burned himself to death in protest against President Ngo Dinh Diem's religious policies.

Combat police in battle dress blocked at least five pagodas, including the one where the monk's body lay. Monks said police granted permission for about 100 Buddhists at a time to enter the building to pay homage.

One pagoda defied a government ban and flew a giant five-colored Buddhist flag until police ordered it down.

There was no violence, however.

Restaurants a Pleasure to Travelers

By HAL BOYLE

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—My country's restaurants, 'tis of thee I sing.

Today you're making life a pleasure for the weary, wayworn traveler.

Remember when it was said there were only three cities in the United States where a man could get a decent meal—New York, New Orleans and San Francisco? Remember when ketchup was the all-American food, because it was used from coast to coast to cover up culinary horrors? It was the only thing that tasted the same everywhere—but it took a strong man to shake it out of the bottle.

Only a generation ago the well-equipped motoring tourist needed a stomach pump as much as a tire pump. He didn't need to climb a mountain to find adventure. All he had to do was stop at a roadside Bide-a-Wee or Dew Drop Inn—and order the blue plate special.

A gastronomic map of America would have shown it to consist largely of a vast desert where they partake of local grub.

Each region had developed its own way of ruining good food.

In New England they boiled a piece of meat until it disintegrated. In the South they tossed it into a kettle of boiling lard until it gave up and sank. In the West and Southwest they fried it until you couldn't tell it from boot-leather. In the Midwest they used all three methods.

The great camouflage material, besides the every ready ketchup bottle, was gravy. It flowed over the cook's errors in a thick, elaborated, impenetrable—and indigestible—flood.

All that is changed today. There has been a quiet revolution in American eating habits.

"I never trust a man who isn't interested in good food," William Allen White once said.

If the culture of a country is measured by the quality of its food, America is on the upbeat in this respect. More and more of our people know what good food is, enjoy it, and demand it.

The "Greasy Joe" type of place, run by a guy in a dirty apron, is on the way out. In practically every community of any size across our broad land there are restaurants now where a man can belly-up the fine, well-cooked, tasty meals of endless variety that are an ecstasy of the palate and a joy to the soul.

How can you tell a good restaurant? My test is tea. There is only one way to make good tea. With boiling water. If the waitress brings you tea lukewarm as a loan shark's handshake, get up and flee that place as if it had a posting a $10,000 reward for Evers' assassin.

Evers was shot as he got out of his car about 12:30 a.m. He had been in his offices conferring with NAACP attorneys after an integration rally.

The bullet struck Evers in the right side of his back, passed through his body and smashed into his house.

The slug went through a plate glass window at an angle, pierced a wall and hit a refrigerator.

The bullet bounced off the refrigerator onto a counter near the sink. Police found it beneath a watermelon.

Police said the weapon was apparently a 30-30 rifle, a weapon commonly used for deer hunting in this area.

Officers said the assassin was probably 150 feet away from Evers.

Later, Willie Mae Bishop, a white teen-ager who lives near the spot where officers believe the shot was fired, told newsmen she saw three men running away from the scene.

Evers was carrying several NAACP sweatshirts when he stepped from his car and was shot.

The blood-spattered shirts, bearing the legend "Jim Crow Must Go," remained in the driveway for several hours.

Evers staggered past his station wagon, parked in the driveway, and collapsed in the carport.

His wife, Merle Beasley Evers, 30, became hysterical when she saw her husband.

Afterward, the grief-stricken Mrs. Evers said, "The children, we were up. And the children came out and tried to talk to their Daddy."

Police said they believed the assassin fired from a vacant lot across a triangular shaped vacant lot where two streets converge.

No Indictment in College Death

HAMBURG, Ark. (AP)—The Ashley County Grand Jury refused to return an indictment Tuesday after investigating a charge of first degree murder against M. C. Talley, 29, held in the death of a college student.

Prosecutor Frank Wynne said the jury heard 22 witnesses in a day - long session, then retired about 45 minutes for deliberations before returning a no-true bill.

Talley was charged in the fatal stabbing last March 1 of Tommy Rodgers, 20, a sophomore at Arkansas A&M College. Rodgers was keeping his father's service station at Hamburg while the rest of his family attended a high school play.

He was stabbed with a bayonet-type knife during a robbery in which about $125 was taken.

Talley was later arrested in Monroe La.

Wynne said that authorities are checking out another lead on the murder in another state.

Race Issue Tense in Virginia

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Bullets struck two police cars cruising the streets of this racially troubled city early today as the state police were directed to make an hour-to-hour assessment of the tense situation.

None of the four patrolmen riding in the two cars was injured in the shooting which came in the wake of a demonstration by Negroes. They said they came to pray at city jail for those arrested earlier.

Two persons were hospitalized after the encounter between police and Negroes. Forty-five others were given first-aid treatment. Rumors that there had been two deaths were discounted by police and hospital authorities as just rumors.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. kept a close watch on the situation. He notified state police to keep the city under tight observation and Capt. J. W. Burrow of Salem, state police division commander, was moved to Danville.

Officials held an urgent morning conference in the office of City Manager T. Edward Temple to decide the city's course of action if more protest marches followed the course of the violence-marked encounter Monday night.

An uneasy calm hung over the city in the forenoon hours.

A total of 74 persons have been arrested. Police said more charges are pending against parents for neglect and contributing to the delinquency of minors. Many of the marchers have been young Negro children. City schools have been closed.

The Rev. A. I. Duppall, one of three Negro leaders charged last week with inciting to riot in connection with the demonstrations, said some of Monday night's demonstrators were "beaten unmercifully." He added:

"The police came in with their night sticks after some of our people had been knocked down with the (fire) hoses. It was just awful. . . I'm mighty afraid violence will erupt."

The incident to which the minister referred came between police and about 50 marchers. This followed earlier afternoon and morning demonstrations when fire hoses were brought in to disperse the crowd, some of them chanting and singing on the steps of city hall.

In sporadic outbursts during the night police said 15 shots were fired.

Three bullets struck one police car. One bullet whizzed through an open window and lodged in the car's inner headlining. A second struck the left hubcap and a third went through the left rear door.

A second car was struck in the rear trunk lid.

Sunday Show Subject of Big Squabble

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Triumph of Gerald Q. Wert," Sunday night's NBC dramatic show, was the subject of a squabble between Ernestine Barton, the author, and the show's associate producer about writing credits.

James Ambados, the associate producer, claimed to have worked the script and wanted to share the writing credit. The Writers' Guild turned him down, but one wonders what the script was like originally. It certainly didn't seem like anything to get excited about Sunday night.

The hour-long—and it sure was a long hour—drama was a sentimental and trite little morality play about the importance of laughter. Art Carney played a second-rate comedian in a totalitarian state which had passed a law outlawing humor — "a malignant infection in the human body," a fascist bully called it.

We know there's no way to abolish laughter, but there ought to be a way to eliminate shows like that.

Dennis Weaver, who has been trying to get into something more comfortable than "Gunsmoke" for about two years, has been signed by NBC for a 1964-65 season series. It's a property about a retired horse trainer and a Chinese boy, originally earmarked for the

Final Rites for Zazu Pitts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hollywood friends said goodbye to veteran comedienne Zazu Pitts at funeral services Tuesday in the mausoleum chapel at Holy Cross Cemetery.

More than 100 attended. Miss Pitts, 63, died Friday of cancer.

The mourners included actresses Martha Raye, Virginia Grey and Patsy Kelly, actor Ronald Reagan and producer Hal Roach Sr.

late Jack Carson.

There will be some rearranging of household chores in prospect to the loyal housewife fans of CBS' soap opera, "Edge of Night." It will be shown an hour earlier—3:30-4 p.m.—on weekdays starting July 1. Involved is a switch of positions with reruns of "The Millionaire," due to be dropped from the daytime schedule in the fall.

Recommended to night: "As Caesar sees it," ABC, 8:30-9 (EDT)—last of the season's Sid Caesar's short specials.

More Foreign Aid Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., joined other congressmen Tuesday in criticism of President Kennedy's $4.5 billion foreign aid program.

The criticism came as Secretary of State Dean Rusk carried to the Senate the administration's fight to head off efforts to cut the program.

Hefty cuts in the program, Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, would constitute a "prescription for defeat."

Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said, "Since January I have been troubled by developments in Western Europe under the leadership of France which have not been reassuring at all."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he intends to vote against the legislation unless the total is drastically reduced.

Schriner says since everything

HE PROVED TOO GOOD

TO BE TRUE

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My idol has feet of clay. The boy I thought wonderful was too good to be true.

We met last August. Up to Christmas he was so attentive I thought: This is it. Then, suddenly he turns into a jealous Blue

Beard, demanding to know my every move.

We broke up in February but the following week he bobbed back, insisting he loved only me;

said he had never cared for any other girl. Well, I've been in love

two or three times, what attractive girl hasn't?

Last Thursday night was our boss's annual dinner. This boy drove me to the restaurant then met me after my part in the program. Instead of talking pleasant

he began cross-examining me about a boy I once dated. We were silent on the drive home.

Going up the walk to my home

he asked me why I was angry.

I said, "You ought to know," and slammed the front door after me. Sunday he was back again, blaming his fairly for his wacky actions, claiming part of his trouble was being an identical twin.

Also he will be 25 in August and still fear his parents he never did me the honor of introducing us and, though I'm a stranger to them, they dislike me intensely.

That cuts.

I understand he made them believe he'd dropped me. Well, I've dropped him. He got his draft notice last Saturday yet never mentioned it when we met Sunday.

This shocked me. Here's hoping he grows up. I've prayed before that the Army not me, would claim him. To think I've waited

11 months of my life on this conceited, rocky, inconsiderate cuss.

Thanks for reading my tale of woe. I feel better for the telling.

Was I entirely foolish to believe in the man? —Disillusioned

Dear Disillusioned: Your boy friend might have been easier to get along with if, like you, he had loved before. The insecurity born of inexperience was the root of his jealousy. What he needs is a chance to grow up—away from twin and parents. Luckily, the Army will see to that.

Since the heated tone of your letter reveals your love for him is by no means dead, play a waiting game. Drop him an occasional note and, at the end of his term of service, do a bit of self-analysis. Meanwhile, date other boys for a yardstick of comparison. As for being foolish, who isn't when in love?

My leaflet, "Is There a Test for Love?" might be of help.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Dear Helen: At 73 I am taking the fatal step for a second time.

My bride to be is a 58-year-old widow from a distant town. Frankly, I don't know to much about her but she caught my fancy at a party and is pushing for marriage. I am stalling till I meet her relatives. Why should she want to rush things this way? —

Wondering Widower

Dear Wondering: Beware! You,

not the widow, should be the eager one. Take your time become better acquainted with the woman and her relatives. Who has the money—you, or she? The very fact that you hesitate is a warning signal.

Dear Helen: Recently, while asleep one night, I had a dream about designing fashions for toddlers and young children. The designs were wonderful. I've never seen any like them. How could

CHAPTER XXVII

While I sat like a lump of old ice, and all about me Smokey's friends were stirring and murmuring with concern, Smokey should not have contradicted himself. No, not even under stress. It looked bad!

When Smokey had said to me — what he did say? — about blackmail — for professional reasons — I had not questioned him, nor thought such blackmail beyond the realm of possibility. But the lawyers were certainly chewing the matter. Finally they questioned Smokey on the subject.

It was all one and the same thing, he said quietly. "Personal or professional. Personal and professional are the same for a doctor. The blackmail did concern my family and my friends. It was designed to hurt me professionally."

This took close to an hour, and then the Judge declared a 10-minute recess. I did not dare leave my chair. Aunt Bean wanted to go out, and Lovey went with her. The man beside me talked to me. He asked who Lovey was. Who was Aunt Bean? My name? Did I live in Elmbank?

I answered in monosyllables, too sick at heart to care if he was a reporter, or not, or if he probed me. Somehow his grave, quiet manner steadied me. And it was only when Aunt Bean came back that I realized that I might have asked the stranger who he was. I had not. I'd told him that Smokey had been in our town for four years, was well-liked — and that he could not have killed anybody!

When everyone returned to the courtroom and was settled, David Ostfeld called a woman to the stand. Her name was Mrs. Evelyn Weber, and she was described as the sister-in-law of the man who had been killed. There was a mounting stir as the woman came down the aisle from the back of the room. Necks turned and craned to see her. I lifted an eyebrow to Betty Hinton who nodded, and shrugged. I straightened in my chair, and studied this witness as she was being sworn. She was a rather short woman, and plump — at least curvaceous.

Her hair was dyed. It was black hair with reddish overtones; it was elaborately curled. Her skin was very white, her eyes were made-up the lashes were either false or trickily accented. She had a small, rosebud mouth, and her clothes — she wore a black dress, the neckline plunging, and the skirt was tight. When she sat down the hem escaped her knees, and she made a futile gesture or two of pulling it down. Her figure was hippy, but she had good legs which she displayed in sheer stockings and stiletto-heeled patent pumps; the toes were needle sharp. She had large white beads about her throat, and the tiniest of black pillboxes on the back of her head. She was the type of woman at whom men whistle, and other women say is not pretty.

Everyone in the court room was looking at her, examining her, forming their own judgments, just as I was. When she first appeared, Smokey had lifted his head to stare at her, leaning forward a little, his lips parted. Then he looked down at his hands, and at the table. Keyes was leaning over to talk to Dick Hinton, his lips moving rapidly.

As I watched the witness, she answered the usual questions, speaking in the voice of a cooing dove. A jurymen asked her to speak louder, and she said, "I'm sorry," with all the effect of laying a poultice on his brow. She spoke in a plaintive, baby-talk voice — I don't like that sort of voice even in my six-year olds.

She said that she lived in Elmbank. Well, she had done so for a while — maybe six months — she didn't remember exactly. She gave her address.

Was she married?

She looked down at her hands, pushed a bracelet up her arm, and drew it down again, "Widowed," she breathed.

The Judge asked her to speak more clearly.

"I'm sorry," said the woman again. I decided that she would be forty, for all her efforts. "I said that I was widowed. My — the boys — my brothers-in-law have been good to me."

She was asked to identify "the boys."

Well — Buck, Ward, she meant — and she dabbed at her cheek well below the eye. And Johnnie, his older brother.

"Did you live with the men?" asked the jury foreman.

Her eyes widened. "I've been keeping house for them," she said softly. "And helping them — in any way — I could."

Would she specify those ways?

"Yes." She stroked her fingers over one of her round knees. "Buck and Johnnie had not had the advantages of a good education," she said. "I did some book-keeping — and wrote letters for them. Things like that." She smiled devastatingly at the Judge.

Venezuela Still Fights Castro Reds

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Still battling diehard Castro-Communists, Venezuela is hurtling toward an historic and probably violent election for the successor to President Romulo Betancourt.

Four candidates already are campaigning at full tilt and a fifth will appear next month — the long-awaited choice of Betancourt's own big worker-peasant party Democratic Action.

No matter who wins the mere election itself would be a victory for democracy in this oil-rich but underdeveloped country.

Betancourt has been under attack by Communists — as well as right-wing plotters — since shortly after he took office in 1959 and refused to let Communists take part in his coalition government.

It was hardly a surprise to any Venezuelan a week ago when a special commission of the Organization of American States said Fidel Castro's Cuba has pi Venezuela as its principal target.

Betancourt appears to have gathered local support gradually as he has taken his own steps against Communists in answer to terrorism, oil installation sabotage, and two full-scale revolts last year.

He has suspended the Communists as a party and banned them from the presidential and congressional elections, tentatively set for November. He has asked the Supreme Court to outlaw the party entirely.

Apparently weary of temporarily suspending constitutional guarantees to gain extra police powers, Betancourt last week asked Congress to pass an emergency law providing the first stiff sentences for terrorists who shoot policemen and burn down factories.

Diplomats say Communists have lost prestige in Venezuela since 1958, when they took credit way — I could."

Would she specify those ways?

"Yes." She stroked her fingers over one of her round knees. "Buck and Johnnie had not had the advantages of a good education," she said. "I did some book-keeping — and wrote letters for them. Things like that." She smiled devastatingly at the Judge.

Giants Drop Dodgers Out of the Lead

By MIKE RATHET
Willie McCovey Tuesday night nicked Don Drysdale for a three-run homer that gave the San Francisco Giants a 3-0 victory over Los Angeles behind Juan Marichal's strong pitching and dropped the Dodgers out of the National League lead.

McCovey now has tagged Drysdale for 8 homers, 4 double, 1 triple and a covey of singles since he joined the Giants in 1959. The slugging outfielder is 21-for-46, a .457 average, over-all against Drysdale, last year's 25-game winner bogged down at 7-7 this season.

McCovey's homer was more than enough margin for Marichal, who posted his first shutout of the season and brought his record to 9-3 with a seven-hitter that left the flip-flop Giants only .002 points behind the second-place Dodgers.

The St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1 victors over Pittsburgh on Bob Gibson's pitching and batting, are sitting on top of the standings, one game in front of the two West Coast rivals.

In other NL games, Houston belted Chicago's Cubs 6-2 on Bob Aspromonte's 10th inning grand slam homer. Cincinnati whipped the New York Mets 8-3 and Philadelphia outlasted Milwaukee 8-7 in 10 innings.

Minnesota knocked off the American League leading Chicago White Sox 8-6, Boston downed Detroit 7-3 in 15 innings, Cleveland walloped Baltimore 9-5 and Kansas City defeated the Los Angeles Angels 5-2. The New York Yankees and Washington were not scheduled.

Gibson, 5-3, checked the Pirates on six hits and drove in the run that snapped a 1-1 tie with a single in the sixth inning following Julian Javier's double. Bill White had given the Cards a 1-0 lead in the first with his 10th homer.

The Cubs tied the Colts 2-2 in the ninth on Dick Bertell's triple and Don Landrum's single. Then, in the 10th, winning reliever Hal Woodeshick singled and an error and a walk filled the bases before Aspromonte followed with his grand slam.

Vada Pinson collected a homer, double and single, leading a 12-hit Reds' attack that got the job done against the Mets. Jerry Harper also homered for Cincinnati.

The Braves scored in the top of the 10th when Mack Jones stole his fourth base of the game and came home on Roy McMillan's third run-scoring single. But the Phillies came up with two in their half on a triple by John Callison and singles by Don Demeter, Roy Sievers and Clay Dalrymple.

Would Like to Get Back on Route 66

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis quit the cast of "Route 66" more than six months ago, claiming his health wasn't up to the job. Now he is in the strange position of a healthy young man, much in demand, who wants to resume his career, but can't.

Maharis claims he was notified by CBS that he was a free agent last month as far as his commitments to "Route 66" were concerned because the packagers of the show had found in Glenn Corbett a "suitable replacement."

The dark-haired, intense young actor, who has become a popular singing star with hit records, was talking happily last week about making his singing debut next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, a date which has been made and broken three times in the past three years.

Apparently, Sullivan wasn't so certain—he never announced Maharis' forthcoming appearance. Now, it has been postponed—again. The packagers of "Route 66" have, according to Maharis' representatives, served him and

Baseball Is Important in Recreation

Little League Basketball is an athletic program for boys in the fifth through the eighth grades, who are not participating in a school sponsored basketball program.

The League consists of 4 uniformed teams. Uniforms and equipment for the League is bought by team sponsors, whose names appear on the back of each player's uniform.

The teams play an eight game schedule, starting around the middle of December and ending about March 1st. All games are played at Jones Field House on Saturdays.

Occasionally, teams in the League will travel short distances for games with neighboring towns and have quite an outstanding record with outside competition.

The primary purpose of this program is to give grade school boys and younger Jr. High boys and opportunity to enjoy playing a competitive team sport while they are preparing themselves for Jr. High and High School Basketball.

The League has been active for seven years and many of the players have grown to be outstanding High School athletes. Also, many boys have had an opportunity to play Basketball that otherwise would never have had the chance, had this program not been in existence.

AEA to Study Several Proposals

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Proposals for raising the professional qualifications for Arkansas teachers and school superintendents got tentative approval Sunday from the state Board of Education.

Also approved was a plan to have the Education Department analyze educational programs in each of the state's 416 school districts.

One of the qualification proposals advanced by Education Commissioner Arch Ford was for the board to study the possibility of requiring a college degree in an academic subject such as English or history for junior high and high school teachers. The degree would replace or supplement a degree in education.

Ford also recommended that the department be allowed to quit giving deficiency ratings to teachers who have an academic degree but do not have the required 18 hours of college work in education. The teachers still would have to take the education hours, but they and their schools would be given a period of grace for meeting the requirements.

Ford's other proposals were that the board require that school superintendents have 30 hours of advanced study in addition to the present minimum requirement of a master's degree; that counselors have a master's degree and 15 hours of advanced study, and that qualifications be established for special education teachers.

The new superintendent requirements wouldn't apply to superintendents already certified by the department and would not go into effect for new superintendents until 1968.

Under Ford's survey plan, the department will send out teams to analyze the program in each district and will make public the findings and recommendations. The Department has called attention to general problems in the state in previous surveys, but has not pinpointed them by districts.

Final action on the qualification proposals is expected this fall.

Execution Stays
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Stays of execution have been granted to Albert Harris and Orion Trotter, who were scheduled to die June 14 for the April 11 rape of a white woman near Monticello. They have appealed.

CBS with legal papers and seek to enjoin him from working for anybody else.

Indians Make It 5 Straight on Homers

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians made it five victories in a row Tuesday night with a home run crescendo that drowned out Baltimore's off-key Orioles, 9-5.

The Indians next-to-last in the standings and 9 1/2 games behind just 10 days ago, now have won eight of their last 10 and climbed to seventh, five games off the pace.

Meanwhile, the drooping Orioles have dropped 10 of 12 and fallen from first to third. They're a game behind the Chicago White Sox, who were trimmed 8-6 by Minnesota, and eight percentage points behind the New York Yankees, who were idle.

In other AL action, 15th-inning homers by Frank Malzone and Dick Stuart and another superb relief job by Dick Radatz carried Boston over Detroit 7-3, and Kansas City beat Los Angeles 5-2. Washington was idle.

The St. Louis Cardinals took over first in the National League, while Los Angeles slipped to second. The Cards downed Pittsburgh 3-1 and San Francisco blanked the Dodgers 3-0. Also, Houston defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-2 in 10 innings. Philadelphia took an 8-7 decision over Milwaukee in 10 innings, and Cincinnati walloped the New York Mets 8-3.

Al Luplow, Fred Whitfield and Dick Whitfield socked Cleveland homers off Robin Roberts and Willie Kirkland connected with two on against West Stock in the Indians' four-run seventh inning.

Mudcat Giant yielded a two-run homer to Al Smith in Baltimore's eighth, then was lifted in a rhabarb-ridden ninth. With one run in and the bases loaded, Bob Allen came on in relief and pitched two balls to Jim Gentile.

Tebbetts then called in Ted Abernathy—despite the rule that says a reliever must finish pitching to at least one man—and Manager Billy Hitchcock of the Orioles protested.

Allen was recalled, walked Gentile and forced in a run, then Abernathy got the last out.

The Twins blew three leads before finally nailing down their victory over the White Sox, with Bernie Allen's double in the ninth inning deciding it.

Bill Dalley won his first in relief, even though his string of scoreless innings ended at 19 when Dave Nicholson hit his 13th homer in the eighth. Zoilo Versalles collected four of Minnesota's 16 hits.

Radatz limited the Tigers to three hits in 8 2/3 innings and extended his streak of shutout in-

Drowns Trying to Save Son

HARDY, Ark. (AP) — Dolan Campbell, 36, of Trumann, drowned Monday in Spring River while trying to save his son, who was rescued by another man.

Ulysses Evans of St. Ann, Mo., pulled Michael Campbell, 11, from the swift-running river but could not rescue the father.

Campbell, his wife and two sons had gone fishing between Hardy and Mammoth Springs when Michael slipped off the bank, into the river and was rushed over a waterfall.

This Kid Used Up Lot of Luck

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joseph Lee Kelly, 2, used up a lot of luck Sunday.

The child fell from a car driven by his father, W. T. Kelly of Little Rock, and a car driven by Robert T. Patton, also of Little Rock, passed over him.

Joseph was pulled from beneath the Patton car suffering only from burns received from contact with the exhaust pipe.

Winter Wheat Crop Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department forecast Monday a slight increase for Arkansas' winter wheat crop and a tremendous increase for the peach crop.

The wheat forecast was 3,125,000 bushels, or 25 bushels per acre, compared to 3,080,000 bushels last year.

The peach forecast was 1,750,000 bushels, compared to 1,020,000 last year.

In other IL games Buffalo downed Columbus 5-2, Richmond nipped Indianapolis 5-4 in an 11-inning game and Syracuse beat Atlanta 3-2. The Jacksonville at Toronto game was postponed because of cold weather.

Nelson Chittum fanned four, walked none and ran his string of scoreless innings to 21 1/3 in shutting out the Travelers in the seven-inning opener.

In the nightcap Billy Short gained his seventh straight victory against two losses as the Red Wings handed him a six-run lead.
